

In the Pursuit of Happiness

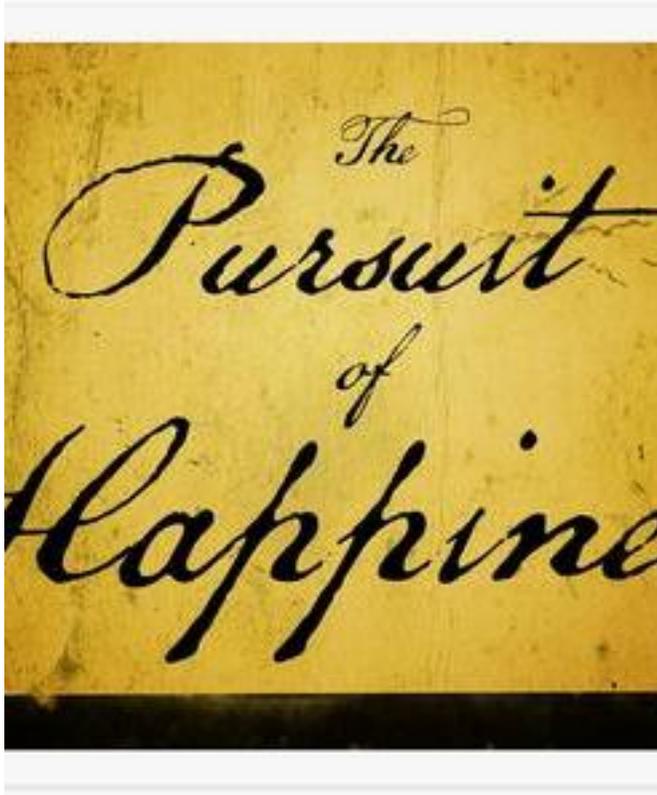

Philippians 4:10-13

The Pursuit of Happiness?

- ▶ What brings happiness in your lives?
- ▶ What really makes you happy?
- ▶ What is the true cause of happiness in this day & age?

The Pursuit of Happiness?

- ▶ What brings happiness in your lives?
- ▶ What really makes you happy?
- ▶ What is the true cause of happiness in this day & age?
- ▶ There are hundreds of books written on this topic. Here is just a very brief examination. Then we shall look into the Scripture and see the God's secret on happiness (Phil. 4:12)

Try Pleasure...

- ▶ For most people, PLEASURE (Hedonism) is the primary source of happiness, therefore pleasure is believed by many as the most intrinsic good. King Solomon once tried that (Eccl. 2:1-11)

Try Pleasure...

- ▶ For most people, PLEASURE (Hedonism) is the primary source of happiness, therefore pleasure is believed by many as the most intrinsic good. King Solomon once tried that (Eccl. 2:1-11)
- ▶ Nevertheless, this “default” formula just does not work (i.e. dear and nicer tease)

Try the opposite...

- ▶ Even with just a little self examination, a person could realize that Materialism just does not work for happiness. So what does he do? The opposite...

Try the opposite...

- ▶ Even with just a little self examination, a person could realize that Materialism just does not work for happiness. So what does he do? The opposite...
- ▶ This brings the rise of Minimalism (the forgoing of stuffs) or Zen Buddhism (the forgoing of pleasure)

Try the opposite...

- ▶ Even with just a little self examination, a person could realize that Materialism just does not work for happiness. So what does he do? The opposite...
- ▶ This brings the rise of Minimalism (the forgoing of stuffs) or Zen Buddhism (the forgoing of pleasure)
- ▶ First of all, it is impossible for a long run, since we are created to enjoy the creation (Eccl. 2:24), which may also lead to hypocrisy or pride

- ▶ It may be more sensible than materialism, but minimalism is hardly the solution, since less worry is hardly the source of happiness

Try Stoicism...

- ▶ Therefore, philosophers (both East and West) had come to the same conclusion: to be contented with what we already had is the essence of happiness.

Try Stoicism...

- ▶ Therefore, philosophers (both East and West) had come to the same conclusion: to be contented with what we already had is the essence of happiness.
- ▶ Therefore, they promoted negative visualization as a technique for happiness (James 4:14)

Contentment is the Secret

- ▶ You can only “trick” your brain to be less disappointed, but not actual contentment (i.e. coffee)

Contentment is the Secret

- ▶ You can only “trick” your brain to be less disappointed, but not actual contentment (i.e. coffee)
- ▶ (Phil. 4:10-13) Can you actually “enjoy” cheap coffee or junk car?

Paul's Secret Reveal At Last

- ▶ Choose to be happy today and right now...you have a choice to make

Paul's Secret Reveal At Last

- ▶ Choose to be happy today and right now...you have a choice to make
- ▶ (1 Tim. 6:6-10) Either you believe that pleasure can buy happiness and you continue to pursuit pleasure as the ultimate good, or you can choose to believe in God's love (Psalm 90:14)—the one that has promised to supply all your needs (Phil. 4:4, 19)
